

Cascade Clamps

Cascade Clamps - Cascade Manufacturing Company was founded in Portland, Oregon in 1943. They began as a small machine shop initially hiring four people. Sales for their first year of operation totaled 60 thousand dollars. The very first recorded sales revenues involved the machining and assembly of stainless steel pipe fittings, valves and different components. During five years of operation, the business had expanded to 40 employees and their annual sales volume had risen to $330,000. Now, Cascade is amongst the top worldwide manufacturers in the material handling business.

Manufacture and design of the company's initial hydraulic cylinder paved the way in Cascade's aggressive pursuit of new business opportunities. During the last sixty years, the material handling business has grown into a very complex area and Cascade has proudly performed a part on this progress. Cascade at present continues to develop as the leader supplier of lift truck attachments and various associated items. The business feels assured in their ability to continue to lead the way within the business by understanding buyer's requirements in the future and remaining competitive in the world market.

In the nineteen fifties, Cascade began designing, manufacturing and promoting hydraulic attachments. Manufacturing was completed in 1956 on a new facility to be able to accommodate all the office and plant operations in Portland, Oregon at the company's present headquarters. Following fifteen years of business, total employees reached one hundred eighty workers and sales had reached practically two million three hundred thousand dollars.

In the year 1959 in Springfield, Santa Rosa the next production plant was built. nineteen sixty marked Cascade's initial move into the global world of the material handling industry as the business recognized interest in England, Australia, and the Netherlands.

The company changed its name to Cascade Corporation in 1964. In the year 1965, Cascade went public with an initial offering of 200,000 shares of common stock. The company has expanded its manufacturing facilities throughout the U.S. with locations in Portland, Oregon, Springfield, Santa Rosa, and Warner Robins, Georgia. Cascade merchandise are made internationally due to numerous subsidiary operations. In the year 1944, a new plant was accomplished in Almere, the Netherlands which is Cascade's European command center. This facility is made to be the ultimate customer support centre.

Continuing to grow, Cascade expanded their product offering further in the year 1996 and 1997 with the dramatic acquisition of 5 corporations, including the global leader in blades, the Kenhar Corporation.
